Unification of All County Fire Districts Is Proposed---Tax Cut Is Claimed

By BOB RAPIDA

A bill, whose proponents claim will equalize county fire taxes, help reduce insurance rates and insure better fire protection for all residents, has been submitted to the Municipal and County Government Committee of the State Legislature.

Under the provisions of Assembly Bill 919, all fire protection districts in the county would be abolished and all would go under the jurisdiction of the Contra Costa Fire Protection Authority.

PROPONENTS of the bill, which according to Fred C. Smith and Kenneth Larson, legislative representatives, has the support of Jerome Waldie, 10th district assemblyman; S. C. Masterson, 11th district assemblyman and George Miller Jr., 17th district senator, state the bill will eliminate overlapping jurisdictions and boundaries "which are costing the taxpayers a fortune in wasted money."

In brief, the bill's supporters outline the objectives of the bill as follows:

- To provide for unification, standardization and a higher level of coordination of the fire fighting facilities of metropolitan areas.
- To more efficiently and economically deal with the complex fire problems introduced by metropolitan conditions.
- To solve the fire protection problems of metropolitan regions composed of numerous cities, towns and unincorporated areas.

SMITH POINTED out that in the Lafayette district, at present, it must send its units past a station of the Central Fire District to cover a fire in the Lafayette district, whereas under the authority, fire houses could be moved to insure maximum protection regardless of jurisdictional lines.

"Fire does not realize any territorial boundaries, therefore the public fools itself when thinking it is saving money by paying low fire taxes," Larsen commented.

"It has been indicated to the authors of the bill and its proponents that the National Board of Fire Underwriters would lower insurance rates should the bill be enacted by the legislature," Larsen continued.

JOSEPH CONNERY, analyst for the Contra Costa County Administrator's Office added the type of fire protection afforded to an area is dependent on the tax rate approved by the residents through their commissioners. But, he asserted, the tax is just one portion of the total price for fire protection. If there is a low tax and a sub-standard district serving the area, then insurance rates are very high, Connery continued.

The total cost of insurance plus the fire tax must be computed to determine the true cost of fire protection, the analyst said.

Smith noted the bill would soon bring about an equalization in fire taxes throughout the county although areas wishing special services could be included in special taxing zones.

ALSO, THE authority, should it be created, would bring about an immediate lowering of fire insurance rates, he opined.

Under the stipulation of the bill, the authority is created after the legislature approves of it. Then the state's boards of supervisors must determine after public hearings that there is a need for it in their individual counties and adopt the ordinance.

The governing body of the authority, as set up in the law, shall not consist of more than 11 members. The members will be six elected city officers and the five elected members of the board of supervisors.

AS VISIONED in the bill there will be one fire chief for the entire county and all the present chiefs will be his subordinates. The actual location of all fire houses, the placing of equipment and the use of this equipment will be under the jurisdiction of the authority and the county fire chief.

The standard means of recall for malfeasance of officials and civil service provisions, etc. are provided in the bill.

"There are many cases in the county where fire stations are too close together, other cases where miles exist between stations. These facts are directly reflected in insurance premiums and in taxes. Under the county wide authority we would be getting the absolute maximum fire protection with the smallest possible expenditure under any system," Smith pointed out.

THE BILL only effects fire protection districts and cities having municipal fire departments may join the authority if they so desire.

Richmond, Pittsburg, Martinez, Antioch have city operated fire departments.

"We know that we are going to run into the opposition of commissioners of the present fire districts, because they fear they will lose their prestige and local control, but even though we must face their opposition, we, who support the bill, know that fire protection, reasonable cost with a maximum of efficiency must be provided," argued Smith.

"WE, WHO SUPPORT the bill and there are many of us throughout the state, are certain that AB 919 will give us the service and fire protection we need," Larsen added.

Smith and Larsen concluded saying the Los Angeles County Fire Protection District has been operated as the bill suggests for the past eight years and is regarded as one of the outstanding fire departments in the nation.

"Unless Contra Costa County acts and acts quickly to consolidate its fire districts and thusly bring about savings in property loss, insurance rates and taxes, then the day may soon be here when individual community interests and desires for power may become so strongly entrenched that Contra Costa will never have adequate county-wide fire service at a reasonable cost" they said.

AB 919 will come before the legislative committee on or about April 1. Should it pass through the committee which is chaired by one of its authors (Bradley, R-Santa Clara) then it will go on the assembly floor and finally to the senate.

AUTHORS OF THE BILL are Messrs. Bradley, Winton, Johnson, Lanterman, Ernest R. Geddes and Holmes.

Research and analysis of the bill was accomplished by the law firm of Bodie and Fogel.

Residents Come to Defense Of Moraga Fire Dept.

By JACK SEYMOUR

The friends of the Moraga Fire Department rallied 'round the firehouse this week as they took clamorous exception to statements made by County Supervisor Mel Nielsen and a county official in last Friday's issue of The Sun.

LETTERS to The Sun, to Supervisor Nielsen and the County Board of Supervisors all defended the volunteer and paid firemen of the Moraga Fire Department.

Phone calls came out also to The Sun offices and to Nielsen.

Moragans expressed indignation, anger and plain confusion over the issues.

MIXED with the rage about the report came evidence of real pride in the Moraga Fire Department and its personnel.

Some of the comments follow:

JACK WINTHER, 599 Rheem Blvd., declared that he was "amazed and astonished" at the article. He said he thought the writer of the article "would make the most dedicated political editor of Pravda seem like a bungling, innocent amateur when it came to pure rot and unadulterated lies."

He continued, "It is obvious that our beloved supervisor has a burr under his saddle blanket . . . but if he is really concerned about the well-being of the Moraga residents, he would do better to leave our Fire Dept. alone and concentrate on doing something about the roads in this area. . ."

FIRE COMMISSIONER HARRY L. ROHRER wrote to Neilsen with a copy to The Sun and the County Board of Supervisors.

In his letter, Rohrer said the Moraga Fire Department has two centrally located fire stations, one 1000 g.p.m. pumper, one 750 g.p.m. pumper and one 250 g.p.m. pumper.

He pointed out that the department has "four 4-wheel drive specially equipped units for grass and brush fires."

"To man these stations and operate the equipment, a staff of 10 paid firemen and 25 volunteer firemen is maintained," he added.

MR. AND MRS. R. DAVIS, 296 Rheem Blvd., lauded the fire fighters, saying, "We have seen our fire departments in action and they have behaved admirably every time.

They added, "We are happy with our fire protection and think that Supervisor Neilsen is just trying to raise our taxes."

MR. AND MRS. EDMUND L. LYNCH, 1066 Larch Avenue, wrote to Supervisor Nielsen, with a copy to the editor of The Sun. They asked that Nielsen "clarify" his statements. "May your constituents hear from you again?" they asked.

The Lynch's said they believe "the Moraga Fire Department is equipped to cope with a fire of consequence." They pointed out that the volunteer firemen "work only under the direction of trained, professional firemen; they assist only, they are not in charge of fire fighting."

MRS. A. J. FLEUTI, writing to The Sun as "the wife of a volunteer fireman," said she considered the article "an insidious slur on the Moraga Fire Department, Chief Al Baitx, his staff and the volunteer firemen."

They all "should be highly commended for their efficiency in handling a difficult (as well as thankless) job," she said.

MR. AND MRS. V. J. PAGLIERO, 1053 Camino Pablo said, "We feel that our professional firemen give prompt and competent 24-hour service to our community.

"Trained volunteer firemen are an important part of our fire department; however, we depend on full-time firemen for immediate service."

A. B. MacDONALD, Box 7, Moraga, called the account "a direct insult to the people who give their time and effort for protection of the people in this fire district."

MacDonald said the firemen "have been doing adequate work for the past many years."

MR. AND MRS. A. J. CARR Jr., described the article as "off-color."

The Carrs, said, "Our experiences with the fire department have been commendable to say the least."

One resident, who asked her name not be used, called the item "untrue." She said it was not "very fair to call a small, but comfortable and very liveable fire house "an old dilapitated (sic) barn."

(Ed. Note: Actually, the county official quoted in the article described the Moraga firehouse as a "dilapidated" former barn.)

She concluded, "It is nice and comforting to know that when you need help you can call them (the fire department) and they will be there quickly and know what they are doing."

LOUISE LYNCH of 1066 Larch Avenue said that the article "makes me wonder about the truth of the various articles I have been reading over the past three years.'

HUBERT G. WILLIAMS, 474 Moraga Road, Rheem, referred to a fire in his garage last July 14. "In minutes three fire trucks and the chief's pickup responded.

The first annual art festival sponsored by the Santa Maria Women's Club at the Willows, Sunday, April 12 from 2 to 5 p.m., will feature the works of three well-known Orinda artists Jonathon Batchelor, Blanche Brody and Gloria Brown.

JONATHON Batchelor has been an art instructor for the past 15 years in public schools and the California College of Arts and Crafts.

He has won numerous awards for his paintings and sculpture, and his work is represented in private collections throughout the world.

Blanche Brody studied under Peter Blos at the Peninsula Art Center; Sabro Hasesawa, Gordon Onslow Ford and Diebenkorn of the College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland.

She has exhibited at the San Francisco Museum of Art, the Valley Art Center and in other local shows.

Gloria Brown is a member of the San Francisco Women Artists and has studied with the noted Italian painter Afro at Mills College.

Currently studying with Clayton Pinkerton at the Richmond Art Center, she has exhibited at the San Francisco Museum of Art, Richmond Museum, Jack London Festival, and most recently at St. Mary's College.

IN ADDITION to this feature exhibit all other Orinda artists are invited to enter their paintings for a juried selection.

Paintings should be ready for hanging and should be delivered to Art Exhibit chairman Mrs. James Mitchell, 12 La Sombra Court, Orinda before April 1. For further information phone CL 4-3763.

The art exhibit will be held in conjunction with a wine-tasting festival.

It's Ball and Chain Day for Miramonte Girls

Friday the 13th will be "Slave Day" for the Girls League of Miramonte High School.

"That certainly will be an unlucky day for many Miramonte girls who must slave for the 'master' who buys them at the auction March 11 and 12," said Miss Giddings, the group's advisor.

The girls must serve their "masters" for the duration of the school day.

Common chores they must perform include such things as carrying books, jackets and other articles (balls and chains, too); feeding the boy lunch; shining his shoes; and various other "goodies" the boys dream up.

Pool Fund Inching Toward Goal; Still Short $2500

The Miramonte Swimming Pool Fund has reached $22,500 — just $2,500 short of the goal of $25,000.

The committee issued a last minute appeal for residents to send their checks to Merle Brown, manager of the Orinda branch of the American Trust Company so the top can be reached before Monday.

DRIVE officials will meet Monday night with the Acalanes School Board to report on success or failure of the campaign.

Trustees of the school district have pledged some additional $35,000 of district funds for construction of the Olympic-style pool on the condition that the community raise the $25,000.

The Orinda-Moraga and Canyon areas have been canvassed by Miramonte students over two weekends.

JIM DANA, pool committee chairman, asked that residents who plan to send pledges or money do so immediately.

"In this way, a complete report may be presented to the school board," he pointed out.

The committee is hoping the full $25,000 will be realized by Monday so the board can authorize construction of the pool. A July 4 opening is planned if the goal is reached.

THE POOL will be used by Miramonte students for classes in water safety, Red Cross instruction and meets. After school hours it will be open to the public.

During the summer the pool will be available all day for residents—whether or not they have contributed to the fund.

The board's regular meeting is Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the district building on the grounds of Acalanes High School.

75% of School Children's Eye Troubles Never Found

A three-year study of Orinda children has revealed "serious shortcomings" in the state's approved elementary school vision testing methods.

SEVENTY-FIVE per cent of youngsters with "eye problems" were never uncovered by the current testing routines, the study found.

Results of the survey will be published in June in a book, "Vision Screening for Elementary Schools: The Orinda Study," (University of California Press.)

VISION screening tests were conducted in Orinda starting in 1954. Directed by County Health Officer Henrik L. Blum, the tests were made to determine what constitutes an "adequate examination."

State law requires that the test be "adequate." Dr. Blum said methods used now have been established "because they are convenient."

A TEAM of ophthalmologists and optometrists, headed by Dr. Henry B. Peters of Oakland and a member of the faculty of the University of California, conducted the survey.

Approximately 1,350 students a year were given a series of tests, including the seven most commonly used in California schools.

The children were also examined by the "modified clinical technique," similar to the optometric test one gets when being examined for glasses.

The researchers found that at the age of five, 16 per cent of the Orinda children needed professional attention.

THEY ALSO discovered:

At age 14, a total of 31 per cent of the youngsters had "eye problems."

Half of the cases had never been discovered.

Another 25 per cent of the school children with "eye problems" received some treatment but required further attention.

Some of the children needed eye surgery.

Others didn't even need the glasses they were wearing.

Dr. Peters reports that the "modified clinical technique" finds "98 per cent of vision deficiencies." He is recommending that all first graders be given this exam.

The annual cost per 1,000 studenst for eye examinations is $530. Dr. Peters claims the "clinical" technique would cost approximately $281 per 1,000 children.

Rotary Career Night 'Highly Successful'

More than 600 students, parents, and professional experts turned out for the first annual Rotary-Miramonte High School Career Night Monday at the school.

The event was described by many as "an unqualified success." Ramsay Underwood, Rotary chairman of the event, said that comments reaching him indicated the project was "highly successful."

"WE OF the joint Rotary-Miramonte committee are convinced of the value of the panel career discussions," he said. "It definitely will be repeated again next year and each year thereafter.

"We are very pleased to have started an annual event at Miramonte and can only hope that each successive year will be bigger and better," he concluded.

SOME 40 diverse occupations and professions were represented by 14 panel groups. They sat in various classrooms and, in three discussion periods, told about the advantages and disadvantages of their jobs and careers.

Students and parents then queried the experts on aspects of their vocations.

Coffee and cake were served in the school cafeteria at the conclusion of the sessions.

THOSE WHO participated and their fields are as follows:

Lovely Debutante Leads a Dog's Life

There's a beautiful debutante in Orinda who hasn't had a fancy, expensive coming out party and hasn't really been presented to society in the usual way.

She is young, full of energy and a joy to behold!

SHE IS "Orinda's Debutante," a four-year-old English pointer owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. Marion Thomas of 718 Miner Road.

What Orinda's Debutante has missed in the way of parties, teas and formal dances she has made up in field trials—sort of the Debut-at-the-St.-Francis of the dog world.

Orinda's Debutante has been runner-up to the field trial championship three times this spring.

SHE TOOK runner-up in the California Bird Dog Championship, again in the Region No. 8 Championship and the California Pheasant Dog Championship.

Orinda's Debutante's proud owner, J. Marion Thomas, says, "When they declare a runner-up in a chamiponship, the dog must be practically as good as the dog named champion."

MR. THOMAS raises English Pointers at his kennels in Willows, Calif.

"I use 'Orinda' as our kennel name with all of the pups I raise," he said. "I have several other dogs that have won under this name with more coming along. We feel they will do as good or better in the future."

RIGHT NOW Orinda's Debutante's mother, "Tysue," is on the verge, as the gossip columnists say, of becoming a proud parent again.

The sire is Textan II, who has won many championships and runners-up for Orinda kennels.

"ANYONE who has watched the big-time Pointing Dog Field Trials will recognize the name of Textan II," Mr. Thomas observed.

"Textan II has won three championships and three runners-up to the championships.

"He won twice in the California Quail Championship, once in the Pacific Coast Championship and twice in the California Pheasant Championship. He also won once in the Region No. 8 event," he added.

The Thomases always have two or three of their favorite dogs around the house but most of the pointers are kept at Willows.

"You can see," Mr. Thomas said, "that we are trying to keep the name Orinda before everyone.

"WE GO to trials which are run from the southern part of California to the northern part of Washington. We also attend events in Utah and Idaho," he added.

Perhaps by the time this appears in The Sun, Tysue will have brought nine or ten new English Pointers into the world and the Orinda Kennel name will receive even more publicity.

BUT EVEN though Orinda's Debutante may be leading a dog's life it's a lot more fun than some people-type debutantes ever dream of having.

Creativity in Children to Be Speaker Topic

The Orinda Cooperative Nursery School mothers will meet Thursday, March 12, at 8 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Orinda Community Church.

Dr. Howard Slatoff will be the guest speaker. His topic will be, "Creativity in Young Children."

Dr. Slatoff is the Art Supervisor of the San Leandro School District.

The public is cordially invited.

Board Agrees to Release Area If Law Is Passed

The Alameda - Contra Costa Transit District plans to exclude most of Contra Costa County from the proposed operational area of the district just as soon as the law will allow.

John R. Worthington, district general manager, told a meeting of Contra Costa county and city planners in Richmond Wednesday that the only areas of the county that would receive transit service in the immediate future would be El Cerrito and Kensington.

"AN AVERAGE OF only 40 per cent of the voters in Contra Costa County favored the recent transit bond issue, which indicates to me that residents of the area are not yet ready for new and improved public transportation services," Worthington said.

The transit official reviewed provisions of a bill introduced by Assemblyman Jerome Waldie of Antioch and already passed by the Assembly, that would allow the district to set up a special service zone.

"This zone will include all of Alameda County that is in the district as well as El Cerrito and Kensington in Contra Costa County," he said.

THE WALDIE BILL (AB752) also makes it easier for cities such as Richmond and San Pablo to enter the district, and liberalizes the manner in which other areas of Contra Costa County could totally withdraw from the district, he pointed out.

"But we are not going to wait until the board of supervisors and city councils request exclusion from the district," Worthington said.

"Just as soon as the governor signs the bill into law, we will move to exclude most of Contra Costa County from the next bond issue by establishing the special service zone."

"This is necessary in order to fix our operational boundaries and proceed immediately with the planning for a bond," he said.

AREAS WITHIN the transit district, but outside the special service zone would retain the right to vote for election of directors and would be subject to a tax limited to one cent. This assessment, when levied, would be used to finance continuing studies as to changing needs of the district and thus facilitate extensions of service to the outside areas when they desire service in the future, Worthington added.

Worthington emphasized that the ultimate aim of providing adequate transit service for the two East Bay counties requires the acquisition of routes, equipment, personnel and terminals.

The contemplated five-county transit system will not provide the two East Bay counties with a solution to its immediate transit problems and many of its long-range problems, he said.

"ULTIMATELY MOST, or all, of Contra Costa County will want to come into the district due to geographical factors and population growth," Worthington said. "Therefore, I feel the one cent tax is not unreasonable or excessive in view of the plan for continuing district-wide studies and retention of right to vote for district directors."

Under the new provisions of the Waldie bill, 10 per cent of the voters in Richmond or San Pablo could request annexation to the district and its operations zone.

Annexation also can be requested by city councils.

An election in the area seeking annexation must be held following approval by the transit board of directors.

Tempest in a Cookie Jar Over Girl Scout Campaign

The Diablo Valley Area Council of Girl Scouts found itself in the center of a "tempest in a cookie jar" this week over the forthcoming scout cookie sale.

Involved are rumors, accusations, denials and an air of general confusion over the manufacture and sale of the cookies.

SCOUT OFFICIALS were in a high rage over rumors circulating that the cookies were made by "non-union" labor.

They were also frothing at a union official's criticism of the fact that the goodies were baked "outside of the state of California."

Council executives set up cries of "persecution," and the cookie manufacturer denied that his firm is non-union.

What may have started as a "tempest in a tea pot"—or, as one scout leader put it — "a tempest in a cookie jar," began when council leaders received complaints about last year's cookie manufacturer's product.

According to Mrs. Vern Kaufman, council products chairman, the council decided to hold a "taste-test."

"COOKIES of various companies were brought in and the board of directors tasted all of them," she said "Megowan Educator cookies were unanimously voted as best of the group."

Mrs. Kaufman said that four Bay Area councils decided to change bakeries this year because of complaints about last year's product.

They are Del Rio, Marin County, Southeast Bay, and Diablo Valley.

Mrs. Robert Freeman, council president, pointed out that "we did this quite honestly to better serve our community with good, wholesome cookies it can enjoy."

AS FAR as the Megowan Education Company being non-union, this is "sheer nonsense," Mrs. Freeman said.

Mrs. Freeman pointed out that the firm has "provided cookies for girl scouts for more than 21 years and is one of 16 licensed bakers of the official cookies."

A STATEMENT from George F. Sharkey, president of National Sales and Service, distributing arm of Megowan Educator, said "every phase of our operation is union." He added that "men who deliver are union as well."

The cookie company executive said his firm has "never lost a day due to strikes or walkouts" and always "meets union demands."

THIS WAS A reference to still another rumor that Local 484 of the Bakery Wagon Drivers and Salesmen's Union, San Francisco, were refusing to deliver the cookies.

Reached by telephone, Wendell Phillips, business manager of Local 484, said he objects to the fact that the cookies are made outside of California.

PHILLIPS told The Sun, "I have no fight with girl scouts. My complaint is with United Crusade. My men have business taken away from them when the girls sell cookies but that's all right.

"The drivers contribute to United Crusade and I think I've got a right to ask that the cookies be made in this state.

"For years we've overlooked the girls peddling these cookies. The men are contributing to the crusade and losing money in sales at the same time.

"I'M SITTING on United Crusade contributions right now.

"I don't care what the scouts do. They can do what they please . . . but not with our money," he said.

Mrs. Kathryn Pell of the Walnut Creek office of United Crusade said officials of that organization "know nothing about the whole affair."

OTHER United Crusade officials in San Francisco also professed ignorance of the "cookie jar tempest," but a spokesman pointed out that the organization has nothing to do with how member groups spend their funds.

"They can buy their cookies on the moon, for all we care," he said. "The whole thing is utterly ridiculous."

One prominent volunteer Lafayette worker for the Diablo Council reportedly is in a state of "acute hysteria" over the controversy.

Sharkey pointed out that California bakers seek girl scout cookie business in states other than California, as do all licensed bakers of the product.

"We purchase products made in California and in effect we all purchase from one another regardless of state of manufacture.

"OUR SALES in California this spring will amount to one million packages," he continued. "This business has brought added revenue to railroads, truck lines and warehouses in California."

Sharkey said his company hopes to develop a "customer demand" for Megowan Educator cookies which will enable the firm to build bakeries in California.

ONE LAFAYETTE scout official, rather bemused by the whole "cookie quarrel" snorted, "Next they'll be wanting us to go around with 'Made in California' labels on our uniforms."

"THE DIABLO Valley girl scouts depend heavily on the profits from the cookie sale," Mrs. Freeman said. "We will earn 26½ cents profit on each box. Here's where the money goes:

"5 cents remains in the troop for equipment and program—a total of $2,700.

"10½ cents can go to scouts who sell four cases to earn credit toward camp fees—approximately $810 will be earned this way.

"11 cents when a camp credit is earned or 21½ cents otherwise goes toward our operating expenses and for improving our camps—approximately $11,000 will be earned in this manner."

THE COUNCIL IS composed of 4,000 scouts from Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Pleasant Hill, Moraga, Orinda, Alamo, Danville, San Ramon and Ygnacio.

The council is a member of the United Crusade and receives approximately 45% of its operating expenses from the crusade. All camp improvements are made with cookie sale profits and calendar sales in November.

A HARRIED mother of three girl scouts voiced the fear that if the cookie sale is not successful "our whole program could be dropped."

She said "I think it's a shame that people can stoop so low as to start unfounded rumors like this."

"But," she added with a smile, "perhaps it will spur us on to make this year the biggest cookie sale we ever had. That'll show 'em."

Residents Defend Moraga Fire Dept.

The fire was put out immediately with a minimum of damage, in what I considered a very efficient manner," he wrote.

"I resent the unscruplous (sic) attack that is being made on the Moraga Fire Dept. and the volunteers," he wrote.

The longest statement was made by Ernest Seri on behalf of "Dedicated Volunteer Firemen."

Considerably condensed due to space limitations, here are excerpts from the statement:

". . . you printed an article aboout the inaccuracies (sic) of the poor little Moraga Fire Department, as stated by our Supervisor Mel Nielsen, an unnamed (and we cannot say we blame him) county official, and written by your reporter Jack Seymour, who has probably never even been in our fair valley.

". . . the article . . . is a prime example of a lot of words that were said without absolutely no facts to back them up.

"At the start of the article it was said . . . conclusions reached by county officials state that 'Fire protection services in the East Contra Costa District are inadequate, to say the least, and some conditions are appalling.'

"For justice sake what they meant by that statement we'll never understand; however, if they meant to scare the residents of Moraga into jumping at Supervisor Nielsen's offer of consolidation with another district they failed.

"Ask any resident of Moraga who has placed a call to our department for aid what they personally think of the response in men, equipment, and the way the situation was handled.

"We guarantee that they will not find a single complaint. Notice that we said resident who has placed a call, not people who want a fancy name tacked on their fire house.

THE SECOND "shocking" situation . . . that although the volunteer firemen are sincere . . . dedicated men . . . their days of usefulness are nearing an end. If all the Fire Dept's. in Contra Costa County alone, which is a majority of department, were to replace their volunteer firemen with paid firemen the fire tax in each district would look like the national war debt!

"The Moraga fire house is not a dilapidated former barn as stated, but a structure, built in 1950, on private land, and constructed by the Moraga Land Co. for the express purpose of housing fire equipment and firemen at a cost of not one single penny to the taxpayers of this county.

"The Moraga Land Co. also installed a sewer connection to said firehouse at a cost to them of approximately $450 and they have furnished city water (E.B.M.U.D.) to this station since it was built . . . for nothing. Our firehouses have not been manned by volunteers for many years, so the next two statements were also wrong.

"Supervisor Nielsen said he met recently with volunteer fire fighters at the Moraga Lions Club; that he had a 'toe to toe battle' with them.

"There were four volunteers there but that was only because we happened to be Lion members and it was a scheduled Moraga Lions Club meeting. As for the 'toe to toe battle,' he was right because Supervisor Nielsen became real angry with us for asking such impertinent questions about his pet subject of consolidation, that he forgot himself and shouted contradictions.

"ABOUT THE only true statement made in the article is the one that says that if Moraga joined Orinda District there would be an increase in the Moraga tax rate. That we know for sure!"

All-Night Party Committees Meet To Make Plans

Despite Tax Rate 35c Lower, Moraga Pays More Fire Cost Than Orinda

Even though residents of the Orinda Fire District pay 35 cents more in fire taxes than in Moraga, a sector of the East Contra Costa Fire Prevention District, Moraga residents pay more for their fire protection than persons living in Orinda.

The Sun learned this week after a brief study of tax and insurance rates there is considerable difference between the totals paid by residents of the two communities.

THE SUN COMPUTED on the basis of an $18,000 home with an estimated assessed valuation of $3600 (20 per cent) for ease in computation.

The tax rate in Orinda is $1.05 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The tax rate in the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District is 70 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. In totals this would be $20.60 in the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District against $37.80 in the Orinda Fire Protection District.

The Sun was informed, however, by agents of the National Board of Fire Underwriters that the insurance rate in Orinda is 12 cents per $100 of value against 36 cents per $100 of value in Orinda.

ON AN $18,000 home in Orinda this figure per year would amount to $20.60 against $64.80 for a home of the same value in the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District.

The computations disclosed that the total paid for fire protection including tax and insurance in the Orinda Fire Protection District is $58.40 per year on an $18,000 home against $90 per year on an $18,000 home in the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District, according to rates supplied to The Sun by agents of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The difference between the two fire districts is $31.60 per year and if the Moraga area of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District is placed into a separate taxing zone of the district as has been proposed by the district's commissioners the tax rate will go to 90 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, according to the county administrator's office which has computed the difference in tax rate for the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors.

THE ADMINISTRATOR'S figures are based on a Moraga assessed valuation of $8 million and an operational cost of some $70,000 for a Moraga fire department.

This leads to the conclusion that the 90 cent rate would be necessary if the Moraga area is placed in a separate taxing zone.

Meanwhile, Supervisor Mel F. Nielsen yesterday clarified his statements which appeared in the March 6 edition of The Sun.

Nielsen commented: "As a general rule the operation of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District leaves a great deal to be desired, but the Moraga sector of the district is doing a job.

"MY STATEMENTS were aimed at getting proper administration for the Moraga fire department," Nielsen continued.

"I appointed Harry Rorher and Howard Weidman to the district as commisisoners. They have done an outstanding job in insuring Moraga's residents of proper fire protection, but a study which is being conducted by the county administrator's office shows that a great deal could be done for the people, if the area were out of the east county district," Nielsen added.

Nielsen opined it is his intention to provide the best administrative practices in his district. "but I have no control over the other commissioners of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District since they are not appointed by me."

The East Contra Costa Fire Protection District lies in the Second and Fourth Supervisorial Districts.

Gerould L. Gill, fire chief and commissioner; Frank Arata and James Higgens are appointees of Supervisorial Chairman W. G. "Bud" Buchanan.

COMMISSIONERS of the fire districts under the jurisdiction of the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors are elected to four year terms by the supervisor of the individual district in which the special district lies.

Nielsen continued:

"When it was said that the age of the volunteer fireman is past, I stated, in effect, that the era of the amateur is ending and the complexities of modern life are creating standards of performance that only the trained professional can meet.

"We more than realize that the volunteer has and will continue to do a job for us, but we need the services, as well, of the trained fire fighter," Nielsen explained.

"In the eastern sector of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District, we do not have these professionally trained men. In the Moraga area of the district, at least, we have trained men who have competant volunteers assisting them," the supervisor asserted.

"THE FACT WE must never forget is: Tax plus insurance premium is the formula by which fire protection cost is computed. If a district does not meet standards set by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, then the insurance rates are high. Whether we like it or not, we get just what we pay for," Nielsen pointed out.

"What I am trying to do," Nielsen noted, "is to warn the people before taxes go up again and they will be paying even more for their fire protection without getting additional service. I hope they heed my warnings," Nielsen concluded.

The East Contra Costa Fire Protection District is the largest fire district in the county and borders the Lafayette, Orinda, Central and Mt. Diablo districts.

IT OPERATES under the 1923 Fire Protection District Act of the State of California and its commissioners are answerable to the Conrta Costa Board of Supervisors.

In addition to the Moraga area, the district incldes Canyon, San Ramon and the agricultural lands between Antioch, Pittsburg, Brentwood, Byron, Oakley and Knightsen.

The executive board recently met at the home of Mrs. Donald Lippencott and made plans for a card party for this fall. Mrs Percy Dawson will be the chairman of the event.

WHAT'S DOING
Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Lafayette

Most folks here in town never think of the telephone company when they see jet fighters tracing vapor trails through the sky. But the fact is that phone people are helping to speed up the nation's air defense by making it work almost automatically. We're building a network of telephone lines that are the nerves of a new system called SAGE. They carry signals from radar outposts to control centers in a flash. There, Air Forcemen see in an instant what's in the air, and can use SAGE's phone lines to order jets or missiles up without a second's delay. We watch over these lines with care, to make sure they're always working for your safety and security.

Supervisors Adopt 'Slow' Policy on Golden Gate Law

Contra Costa County Supervisors are taking a middle road on proposed legislation which would create the Golden Gate Authority.

After an hour's hearing in Martinez Tuesday, the supervisors concluded they did not have sufficient information on the eventual scope of the proposal to decide whether to endorse or oppose it.

THE BILL PROVIDES that all the bridges, airports and harbors in the Bay Area would come under the jurisdiction of the proposed authority.

The supervisors heard argu- od by which directors of the ments Tuesday against the method by which directors of the authority would be chosen.

Hugh Caudel, representing the Contra Costa County Central Labor Council suggested creation of an advisory committee to advise the authority commissioners while former first district supervisor Ivan Goyak of Richmond proposed equal representation for all counties involved with commissioners picked by boards of supervisors and city councils.

As introduced the bill would create a 13-member commission with varying numbers of commissioners from the individual member counties of the authority.

CONTRA COSTA. under present legislation which has been proposed, would have one commissioner.

Harry Morrison, director of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association and a commissioner of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, urged the supervisors to wait until additional experience has been gained from the operation of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District before creating a third Bay Area District.

One of the authors of the proposed Golden Gate Authority Bill is Contra Costa State Senator George Miller Jr., of Martinez.

Edgar F. Kaiser is chairman of the committee supporting the passage of the bill.

CHANDLER YOUNG, public relations chief for Kaiser, in a telephone interview with The Sun said:

"There are amendments to the bill which are now under consideration to satisfy some of the local interests of the county's involved.

"We hope to have legislative sessions in the near future to draft further amendments to the legislation as it now stands," Young noted.

OTHER SPEAKERS at the Martinez hearing were: Ed Rowland of Lafayette, a director of the County Taxpayers Association; Claude Greerty, manager of the Martinez Chamber of Commerce; Jack O. Fries, Martinez city councilman; George Kelty, representing the Oil Workers Union; V. A. Fink, representing the County Development Association, and County Administrator J. P. McBrien, who opposed creation of any metropolitan district until "it is demonstrated that existing district and governmental agencies cannot provide the desired services under existing or amended state laws."

Knife Wielding Youth Flattened By School Coach

A knife wielding teen ager who held another boy at bay with a knife at his throat last Friday at Acalanes High School was "knocked flat" by Athletic Director Erwin Mattson.

The youth, now in the hands of juvenile authorities had checked out of school the day before the altercation and returned to pick up books and other personal belongings at the school.

EARLIER in the day, Coach Charles Eaton broke up a fight between two boys. Later the boy who was on probation on an earlier charge of displaying a knife in a fit of anger, waited for a 17-year old youth with whom he had been fighting for the last 10 years, according to a sheriff's office report, outside the boy's shower at the high school.

Mattson entered the locker room and saw the lad holding a knife at the second youth's throat. He told the boy to drop the knife and Mattson said, the boy lunged at him.

Mattson, a former wrestling champion and seasoned athlete, floored the boy with one blow, the sheriff's report continued.

THE YOUTH cut himself with his own knife as he fell. The second youth suffered a cut on the throat. William Faulkner, sheriff's deputy commented.

The case is under investigation of juvenile authorities.

They perform clerical and typing duties in the various departments. Inasmuch as there are several vacancies at this time, employment opportunities are excellent.

Law Codification Project Approved By Supervisors

For the first time in 108 years, Contra Costa County's 1300 ordinances will be coded, reviewed and revised, according to County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

Appearing before the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors in Martinez Tuesday, McBrien said codification would simplify legislative procedure by eliminating outmoded and conflicting laws on the books.

"PUBLICATION of the remaining ordinances in a single volume with numerical index would simplify future amendment and repeal when necessary," the administrator added.

The supervisors approved an expenditure of $2500 for the codification and approved a request of District Attorney John Nejedly to hire Thomas McBride, Concord attorney, to do the work.

McBRIDE HAD been the county's assistant district attorney until recently when he resigned to join the firm of McBride, Coll and Conti.

Nejedly stated that even though McBride was connected in business with Supervisor Thomas J. Coll, third district, Concord, there would be no conflict of interest.

Dramateurs Triumph With 'Rainmaker' Production

By MARIE MONAHAN

The Dramateurs are doing the What Comes Naturally over at Lafayette Town Hall.

The troupe's current cast of members—playing in a revival of N. Richard Nash's romantic rural comedy "The Rainmaker" — seem to have been born to their parts.

THE LOCAL drama group has finally settled down permanently in their newly-refurbished home and it appears that pride of ownership, of having a place they can call their own, has contributed much to their play-acting. "The Rainmaker" is a near-perfect production.

THE ACTORS exude a continuous flow of credible naturalness, homespun and heart-warmingly human and worthy of a full house every weekend.

THE WARM weather lends further realism to this story of a plain prairie flower doomed to dry up and die an old maid in the drought-swept land.

THE VEHICLE is something of a showpiece for the two starring roles and as Lizzie Curry, the not-so-youngish girl whose male family members hound her to find a husband.

June Griffin emerges genuinely gentle, sincere and so believably good that it gives you a real twinge at times.

BERATED and badgered by her oldest brother Noah in particular, the girl seems almost resigned to her plainness, to her lack of appeal, until the rainmaker, Lewis Spruance, a tall and talented newcomer sweeps on stage through the screendoor with the promise of rain and brings happiness to the lovely Lizzy and ultimately to the disillusioned divorced deputy.

As her saviour, Spruance — handsomely half-Elvis and half-Ricky Nelson in a more conservative manner—plays a con man named Starbuck who brings blush to the cheecks and stars to the eyes of the girl.

THERE ARE some magically tender moments and some charming bucolic banter between the household members. The father is portrayed adroitly by James Harris who sketches him as a benign, kindly sort of fellow.

The two brothers, poles apart in personality, are well done by Rolfe Wililams and Ray Howard.

John Read and Philip Stearns rate additional silver stars for their parts besides the badges they wear as a lovelorn stubborn deputy and his rather cynical sheriff.

The mid-western setting, circa crystal sets and cuspidors, was created as a three-in-one set by designer Richard Robinson, a young man with a Lawrence Olivier look.

THE DRAMATEURS have distinguished themselves as well as their deft director Carl Rasmussen with the warmth generated by The Rainmaker. One of our favorite lines from the play is the short and sweet "Don't Go" but on the contrary, we urge you to—Friday and Saturday evenings 8:15, through March 23.

TV Increases Interest in Good Reading

Demand for reading material stimulated by television programs banishes the supposition that reading has been deserted for TV, according to reports made from the 30 libraries in the Contra Costa County library system to the office of Mrs. Bertha D. Hellum, county librarian.

Viewers of the current "World of Ideas" series presented by the Public Affairs Department of CBS News, an informal weekly discussion program conducted by Dr. Charles Frankel of Columbia University, are visiting the public libraries to probe further into the subjects discussed.

The American Library Association is one of the organizations cooperating with CBS in this series.

"WHAT HAS Happened to the Meaning of Words?" and "Can the Scientists and Technicians Communicate With Us?" were questions discussed March 1 and 8 on the topic "Has Communication Between People Broken Down?"

Interest in books on language and communication was also stimulated by the January 26 NBC program, "The Alphabet Conspiracy," in the Bell System public service "Science Series."

Related books in the county library collection include Frederick Bodmer's The Loom of Language, on the beginning, variety and importance of language in the traffic of ideas, Stuart Chase's The Power of Words, showing how the power of words can both clarify and obscure meaning, Rudolf Flesch's How to Make Sense, what constitutes effective two-way communication.

LANGUAGE in Thought and Action by S. I. Hayakawa of the San Francisco State College faculty, on the problem of transferring thought into action by means of language, Lancelot Hogben's From Cave Painting to Comic Strip, a spirited, illustrated survey of visual communication through the ages.

Union Offers Scholarship For Nursing

The largest scholarship to be offered a Contra Costa College student—a $300 award in the field of registered nursing — has been established by the Contra Costa Labor Health and Welfare Council, AFL-CIO.

Louis H. Martin, Council executive secretary who contacted the junior college district governing board, said that his organization will ask that scholarship candidates comply with three qualifications other than the academic requirement which the college will set.

Candidates, Martin said, must show need for financial assistance, be a member of a union family, and pass a Council screening for verification of all qualifications.

The money was placed in trust with the college district today through Board president George R. Gordon, with the provision that $200 be given the selected student at the beginning of the first year of study and $100 at the beginning of the second year.

All Present & Unaccounted For

IN THE DAWN'S early light last Sat. a passel of sleepy-eyed people groped their way to the Greyhound Bus waiting them at Caso O for a chartered trip to the snow country.

Here, half-awake & hauling their skis, boots & duffel bags were boys & their fathers of Troop No. 207 bound for Camp Bray, the Scout's rustic retreat about 10 mi. from the Dodge Ridge area.

THEY WERE ONLY going on an Overnight but from the amount of gear going along and the woeful expression on the faces of the Mothers, it looked like they were headed for a month in the Swiss Alps!

Silhouettes in the dark . . . Nan Davison in slippers & slacks hugging her coat and checking Johnnie's gear equipment . . . Char Chapple bidding Jim & son Alvah Adieu.

MORE EARLY RISERS . . . Garth Huddleson, Phil Gardner, Ron Winkler stowing their snow stuff in the belly of the bus . . . Scoutmaster Don Anderson making the trip, hereby missing seeing his own boy in Judo competition at PalAlto over the wknd . . . Cec Cantrill taking roll-call, all present & unaccounted for? And last voice heard as the Greyhound grumbled away, Steve Cantrill calling to Gen — "Hey, Mom, Where did you put my Reader's Digest?"

A Sleeping Bag, A Soda, Pop & Chow!

On the Slopes of Old Camp Bray . . . The first sight & spectacle of snow for SOME of the boys . . . Jeff Anderson, Doug Fastabend, Ricky Fiset, Steve Friel loping off to the slopes. Richard Roos & Mike Kersten taking a hike up the road . . . Harl Tyler & his son Scott limbering up, Sandy Cutler, Steves Gentry & Scarich lacing their boots.

Fred Twining being SOSed for help. He a ski fan making frequent trips to his brother Wilbur's place at Pinecrest . . . Buzz Lee & Bill Gilmore going over to Dodge for the afternoon, Bud Loughman getting his "blue" pass to the steeper slopes, the boys lining up for free lessons from the camp directors . . . Greg Felice & his younger brother Gus, Gus like a lithesome little worm in the snow.

STRICTLY A STAG AFFAIR . . . A sleeping bag, a Soda, Pop & Chow . . . A group of Lafayette Scouts up w/Barney Rocca of Laf. He entertained w/Dixieland piano in the Mess Hall for the Dads who didn't get much sleep that night.

HOME THE HEROES on Sunday Eve & Kudos from the kids to the kindly bus driver who liked the kids & enjoyed the trip w/them . . . A kudo too, to Mom's cooking when — "Gee, it was fun, Mom, but there's NO place like home! What's for dinner?"

A Real Gone Garner was here . . .

March 5, Thursday, we attended the concert by elfish Errol Garner, the Debussy of the Piano, at the Oakland Auditorium. . . Emily Winfree & I made it into Oakland just in time & did a record sprint across the new grass growing in the park plaza, pardon our heel marks, O Park Dept!

NRBY. sat Helen Gibbs & her tall son Jimmie enjoying the nimble-fingered fellow's playing (He can't read a note!). Right behind us sat the Van Everys, Kelsey & Pat, she another jazz fan. The Paul Slatterys were there as was Frankie Schwedhelm who w/her musician husband Carl has been friends w/the pianist since he first started out years ago.

AFTERNOON OF AN ELF . . . Garner is real gone now, continuing his tour under Sol Hurok, but as a favor to his old friends the Schwedhelms, he popped up at their Patio Music Shop at Rheem Center last Tues. 3-4:30 to meet some of his fans . . . Barbara McGah here w/a friend . . . Bill Rheem buying two albums . . . Trumpeteer Mario Guarneri & some of his school pals having a music confab w/the pianist-composer. Marge Holmgren, the tall statuesque blonde who plays the tuba & piano w/her husband in local dance groups, also dropped in w/her young son & Helen Gibbs & her boy Charlie chose to buy their first Garner album "Concert By The Sea" recorded at Carmel. We liked his new "Other Voices" album, a choice selection w/Mitch Miller's orch, strong on strings backgrounding beautifully melodious keyboard.

FLASH! From the Sergeant's Shangri-La ranch out Bear Creek Way . . . Young Deb's horse had a brand new buckskin colt last Tuesday. She has named it Tonka. (My, how timely!) Could be she picked that name from the movie at the local marquee last wknd. when in between horseback riding, Ground Cow lunchnig & the picture show to celebrate Larry Ann Long's B'day, she, the B'day hostess & friend Laurie Flenner consumed a whole gal. of Choc. Mint Icecream they had made themselves. Which reminds us—

Christin Green was gifted a horse last year because it was getting "fat" & its owners didn't know what was the matter with it. A wk. after Christin had her gift horse home, it foaled, no fooling, a REAL stock Dividend!

Dear Abby: My Problem Is—

THE EASTER FAIR for Children's Hospital wound up the wknd. at the Claremont. Sat. night's attraction was that lovelorn lassie w/the classy chassie, Abigail Van Buren better known to her chronic readers as Dear Abby.

She took the name Abigail from the Old Testament because Abigail was known for her sage & sound advice & the Van Buren, she says, she borrowed from broadcaster Martin Van Buren because she liked its aristocratic sound. She is really Mrs. Mortimer Somebody, a Hillsborough matron devoted to the domesticities of a daughter & son & a wonderful husband to whom she has been married 18 years. She keeps her typewriter under wraps when the family is around, works out of a corner of her bedroom & has 6 secretaries at her beck & call to handle some thousands of letters monthly.

IN SPITE OF her flip & somewhat precocious answers which make her column different, this gal obviously has lots of H-E-A-R-T & a genuine concern w/people & their problems. In one case, hearing from a desperate wife & mother whose husband was faltering in Japan & ready to sever family connections here, Abby wired her Pronto to Stick to her guns, to write him daily, have the kids write, correspondence & a year later came the heart-warming wire—"Dear send presents, even when she didn't hear from HIM. 108 pieces of Abby, God Bless You, Our Daddy's Coming Home."

Among the local folk enjoying the lady's humor were Andy & Phyll Hartanov coming in from dinner w/a group.

Friday night the Claremont was dolled up for the Mardi Gras w/New Orleans-type decor, dancing, games of skill & chance. Among the throng, were the Ken Mirovs, the Cliff Benjamins, & Ward Huntington, just home from 6 wks. of traveling in the East, who finally located Jean in her branch booth & had a quick 10 min. w/her catching-up on the news before she went back to the booth to work til' two! Home, the Warrior, who had to wait!

"Dancin' With Anson" was the big attraction Sunday. Jackie & Spence Archer joined townside friends for the late afternoon Tea Dansant mit the good old tunes.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY to Kay & Jimmie Gordon of Overhill Rd. who celebrated their 20th Tuesday nite w/dinner at Ernie's in SF. . . Wayne Miller is due home from Down Under. He has been shooting in Australia. With his camera, of course!

MISSING . . . One Good friend who plays a good bridge game, namely Marilyn Hampton, the mission tradition at the Bridge table. So to catch up on cards & conversation, a trio of Nell Huton, Barbara Franklin & Dorothy Parnham flew south to Riverside last Mon. for a mid-week visit w/the Robert Hamptons, formerly of Snowberry Lane.

Dorothy's daughter Janice, by the way, is due home this wknd. from a La Jolla holiday stay w/her grandmother Helen C. Rousseau which occasion served too, Semper Fidelis, as a chance to hee her beau Marine Jim Grantham of St. Louis graduate from the Boot Camp at San Diego. Jim, a law student, & the local lass met while Janet was a student at Stephens College.

WE HEARD it from the Winfrees who got it from the Austins who go it from the Johansons who heard it from the Hardings that the Robert Roths (Bob & Mike) are coming back! They moved to Chicago suburbs a little over a yr. ago on a Kaiser transfer but now w/the big new bldg. in Oakland, will come westward, Ho again along w/some 250 other Kaiser families.

Get it first hand from Peggy Beckett or the Beardsleys or the Rawsons, but talk about an ill-fated trip to the Snow, they've had it! Last wknd. with a leg break, car-sick kids, another boy breaking out mit measles & All This before they even had a chance to unpack.

Soroptimists Hear Young Folks Lauded

"Ninety-seven per cent of teen agers are determined to grow up to be good citizens—only three per cent get into serious trouble."

THAT WAS the conclusion reached by Mrs. Verna Thompson in her talk before the weekly meeting of the Lafayette-Orinda Soroptimist Club. The meeting was held Tuesday at El Nido.

Mrs. Edna Bedsworth, vice president and chairman of the day introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Thompson is past president of the Livermore Club and is currently very active on the regional service committee.

MRS. THOMPSON is particularly interested in "youth recognition" and spoke at some length on the subject. She pointed out the need to acknowledge the many fine young people today who have distinguished themselves in their communities.

"As opposed to the mere 3 per cent who are actually in difficulty and are delinquents, 97 per cent of teenagers are intent on becoming good citizens and contribute much to society," she said.

Mentioning that "balanced service projects" are important, she outlined several of the major services accessible to the Soroptimist clubs in the region.

Included are gerentology which is the study of effort to maintain meaning of a longer life in a society which offers more leisure time; the eye bank, zoning projects and scholarships.

In summing up her discussion of services available to all clubs, Mrs. Thompson said,

"PEOPLE come in three classes, A few who make things happen; the many who watch things happen and the overwhelming majority who have no idea what happened."

County 'Vision' Program Based On Orinda Testing

A vision-screening experiment in Contra Costa County—the object of which is to make sure Johnny can see so he can read—is ready to move from the trial stage to full-scale performance that might ultimately benefit 60,000 school children, say planners.

Dr. Floyd Marchus, county superintendent of schools, invited administrators of elementary districts in the county to meet this week in the County Administration Building, Martinez, to hear recommendations for improving the vision screening program, which is mandatory under state law.

The recommendations are the result of a three-year study at Orinda, during which approximately 1000 children were screened for vision by various methods.

THE MOST effective, the Modified Clinical Technique, apparently resulted in a break-through to improved visual health in school children.

County Health Officer H. L. Blum, joined in the Orinda Vision Study by experts from the University of California and Stanford University, describes MCT as "remarkably efficient (and) economical," capable of finding effective vision yet not needlessly referring for professional attention children with adequate vision.

MCT is described as different from older methods chiefly because of its greater accuracy and the fact that it is given by an examiner who is a graduate optometrist or physician with specialized training in ophthalmology, rather than by a teacher or other school employee.

The Orinda Vision Study is sponsored by an advisory committee comprised of physicians, school administrators, members of the county superintendent's staff and Parent-Teacher Association representatives.

THE CALIFORNIA Educational Research Association's annual spring conference will be held at Sacramento today and tomorrow.

"The Orinda Vision Study" will be reported by Dr. Henry B. Peters, associate professor of clinical optometry, University of California.

Three other program participants are from Contra Costa—Dr. Floyd Marchus, county superintendent and association second vice president; James Grubb, sixth grade teacher at Hillcrest School, Concord; and H. Frank Bradford, assistant superintendent, Lafayette School District.

Dr. Marchus, as program chairman, will preside over the opening session tomorrow evening, and Grubb and Dr. Bradford will read papers at section meetings Saturday.

Doctor Speaks Against Water Fluoridation

Dr. L. A. Alesen spoke against fluoridation at the Orinda Woman's Club meeting last Monday at Glorietta School.

Dr. Alesen presented his arguments against fluoridating the public water supply. The pro-fluoridation argument was presented at a meeting of the club last year.

Dr. Alesen is a past president of the California Medical Association, past president of the Los Angeles County Medical Association and past chief of the Los Angeles County General Hospital.

He said he had five general arguments against fluoridating the public water supply:

"1. The normal physiology of bone and tooth formation;

"2. Is fluoridation safe?

"3. What are the 'undesirable sife-effects' of fluoride?

"4. Suggested alternatives;

"5. The 'moral issue' involved."

According to Dr. Alesen, accumulated fluoride interferes with the action of certain chemical properties. It precipitates calcium, destroys certain enzymes and destroys Vitamin D, he alleged.

In answering the question, "Is fluoridation of public water supply safe?", Dr. Alesen said "no two individuals drink the same amount spent on a given project factor is not the concentration of fluoride in the water, but the total amount consumed."

"There is not only a doubt about the safety of fluoridating public water supply," continued Dr. Alesen, "but some individuals will definitely be harmed."

One of the problems of the high cost of fluoridation when he said that only $25.00 out of a $10,000.00 amout spent on a given project would reach the children (12 and under) to benefit from a fluoridated public water supply, he claimed.

"The Swiss people have been using fluoride tablets for six to eight years," Dr. Alesen said. "People who feel they must provide their families with fluoride should use tablets or a drug grade of fluorine purchased by the gallon, both of which are very inexpensive," he said.

Dr. Alesen stated that chlorine and alum compounds are added to water to supply the consumer with a pure, potable water, free of bacterial and other contamination and safe for humans.

The Sun's Annual SPRING Fashion Edition

It's spring . . . a fresh, exhilarating season so full of the joys of living, so completely wonderful that the whole family goes eagerly forward to greet it.

Spring Fashions

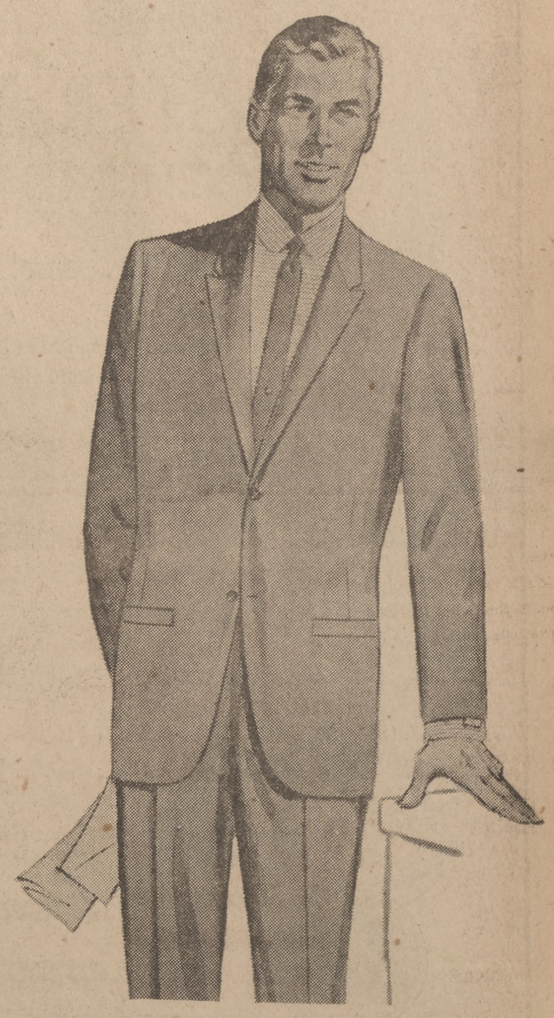
ALL DRESSED UP for Easter is Pretty Metty Lou Leibold. Betty is wearing a "Youngland" dress of silk and cotton, trimmed in lovely blue velvet and embroidered flowers. Her white roller hat and white gloves complete the outfit which may be seen at Shoo Time Shopping in the Lafiesta Shopping Center in Lafayette.

Among spring's most exciting pleasures is the change to new fashions . . . for everyone in the family, and for the home, too.

SPRING ENSEMBLE with stamped good taste and latest fashion at Ogden's store in the Orinda Village Shopping Center is worn by Miss Beverly Boyd, 15, daughter of Mrs. John Boyd of Orinda. Beverly is wearing Tenna-Paige "salt and pepper" sheath dress of tweed cotton. Its simple lines tell of the attractiveness of the white collar and self-bow in front.

Most Fashion Photos by Rod Lomas



THE LATEST THING in masculine fashion—the neat, streamlined look of the "continental" with trimmed down shoulders and narrow semi-peak labels, cutaway coat front and slim line trousers is now at Grodins in the Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek.

Costume Look Leads Fashion Trend as We Step into Spring

MARY ANN HALVERSON and Shirley Hodgdon are seen in front of Capwell's in the Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek. Mary Ann is in a turquoise coat ensemble with a touch of Oriental influence while Shirley wears a slim sheath dress and matching cropped jacket in textured silk as her spring costume.

High Marys Are In Line for Spring Coats.

The newest looking coats this spring are marked by high lines, bright colors and versatile "personalities" that adapt easily to suburban, urban and travel situations.

This three-way wearability is achieved through fabrics that can assume several roles. These include vivid nubby and fluffy-surfaced woolens with interesting textures, mohairs, mesh effects and hopsackings, substantial double-knot jerseys in wool or cotton.

Colors are brilliant. There are golden yellows, flower tones of blue, vibrant pinks to ruby reds, melon shades, leaf and sea greens, lilac tones, bleached and unbleached whites. Navy, black, beige and rose-beige offer popular choices among neutrals.

A hand-woven look is stressed in plaids and a great variety of checks, from small worsted patterns to giant windowpanes. They appear in bright or beige with white and in two-color and raised patterns.

For the high-waisted line, the waist may be lifted by belts, sashes, drawstrings or multiple seaming. Gathers, high pockets, flaps, tucks and banding are also used.

A return to demi-fitted and fitted silhouettes is seen in coats with either rounded full skirts or sheath skirts. The waistline is revealed by belts crushed softly at front, by short bodices worked closer to the figure and by all-around belts.

Gentle width across the top is expressed in huge collars, soft shoulders and deep armholes. Necklines are open, with or without collars, some with easy tie effects. The collarless necklines are often accompanied by fringed, detachable scarves.

Belts Are Back

Belts, sacked last year by the chemise, are back—and in prettier shape than ever.

Gently contoured or straight, the majority of belts meant to be worn at the waist — not empire fashion — are slim. To compliment the "lifted look," belts take on a sash effect in soft, crushed leather to be worn wide and high above the waistline.

Meek, Mousey Neckware Gone

All the evidence, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, points to the fact that men have chosen this spring to establish that they are not mice when it comes to selecting their neckwear.

Men have grown tired of dull mousey shades and meek patterns, in the opinion of exhibitors at the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers at the Palmer House February 22-25.

AUSTIN LEEDS is again featured at Smith's in the Broadway Shopping Center. This suit is 100 per cent wool, but light weight and has all hand shaped tailoring with narrow lapels.

PRETTY MISS LEANA BAER, aged 4½, just loves her new white, T-strap summer "dress up" party shoes with the gold bows. Little Leana models this well-fitting, popular shoe in front of the Party Shoe rack at her daddy's Village Shoe Shop in Orinda Village Shopping Center. Complementing the attractive summer shoes for Miss Leana is her beautiful Easter party dress from Orinda Pixie Shop. The shoe store's pert model is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Baer of Orinda.

For Top Interest

Spring Inspires New Trends in Jewelry

Spring is the season of newness—and the jewelry designed to complement spring fashions takes its inspiration straight from this mood of the new and the fresh, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute.

Important among the new trends is the shorter length of necklaces. Short bibs, shorter chokers and the shortest necklace of all, the dog collar, star for spring.

Short sleeves for suits and dresses spotlight bracelets, with a deep-cuff look and jeweled and textured surfaces.

Bosy' Clothes Are 'Well-Tailored'

For little boys, spring heralds the arrival of young suits and coordinates with a custom-tailored look.

The toddler crowd's Eton suits often take to double-breasted styling, while such highlights as cording across jacket yokes or suspenders edged in contrasting colors add interest to other outfits.

New clothes for boys in the ten to twelve age group, especially, interpret the well-dressed look in terms of the same styling Dad likes. Jackets, where two-, three- or four-button models, are trim and slender, and so are trousers.

Checks and stripes are sports jacket favorites. Red continues popular, and white contrasted with black, brown or navy looks new and fresh.

Styled Like Dresses

Coats styled to look like dresses attract spring interest.

READY FOR THE WATER in her Rose Marie Reid's "Primrose" suit with the new neckline, is Jeanne Sindahl of Lafayette. The wide straps, bright flowers and the "squared" neckline emphasize the new and the beautiful in the collection of swimwear now at Fiesta Fashion in the Lafiesta Shopping Center in Lafayette.

Checked for Spring

Checks form the most important fabric design for spring. There's great variation in size and color. Prominent are black, brown, red or navy with white.

Subtle, Underplayed Look Rates High for Fashions

First and foremost in the fashion picture for spring and summer 1959, is the subtle, underplayed look of the suits, coats and dresses in the Joseph Magnin collections.

This new look of fashions at Joseph Magnin is a classic one, a brisk and chic look that maintains an uncluttered, straightforward ease, one that is wonderfully feminine and flattering.

The three most important features of the classic look at Joseph Magnin are the belt, the shirtwaist and the cardigan. They may be seen at Joseph Magnin in many variations in dresses, suits, coats and shirt and skirt separates. The belt has been brought back into prominence and is evident in many new styles.

There is the cinched belt, the tall belt rising in a curve to lift the waistline, the sash belt, the narrow drawstring belt, all wonderfully shape-making.

The shirtwaist dress is the second important fashion headliner at Joseph Magnin. There are many fresh interpretations of this wonderful style in new colors, textures and subtlety of design.

Every woman will feel well-dressed in the simple, flattering design of this classic, and there is a shirtwaist dress appropriate for the most casual occasion to the most dressy at Joseph Magnin!

The cardigan is the third classic example seen throughout the Joseph Magnin selections. The collar has all but vanished and in its place the wonderful look of the cardigan neckline becomes another fashion first at Joseph Magnin.

The cardigan may be high and closed, v'd or slashed, slightly scooped or gently eased away from the neck.

Accessories play an important part in the cardigan look, the loosely knotted scarf, a jeweled pin placed high, a flower just so, are perfect examples of how to play up this exciting look.

Color plays a major role at Joseph Magnin. This spring is truly a multi-color spring at Joseph Magnin. Blues, pinks, violets, yellows, oranges, green and brown are seen in soft light fabrics such as gauzy mohairs, wool crepes and textured silks and exciting blurry prints.

Bullfight Background For Bridge

Walnut Branch 'Room' Graces Mardi Gras

Members and friends of Walnut Branch met for cocktails and dinner last Friday evening before attending Mardi Gras night at the Claremont Hotel.

This is one of the most popular events of the annual Easter Fair sponsored by Childrens Hospital of the East Bay.

This year Walnut's booth was planned and directed by Mrs. William Nero of Walnut Creek. The booth was one of the most outstanding attractions of the evening.

Among the highly competitive and extremely clever exhibits operated by the various hospital groups, Walnut Branch staged a beautifully appointed period living room completely furnished including a fireplace and grandfather's clock.

Guests were attracted to the setting by "player piano" music from a gramaphone. A large sign exhorted the onlookers to "Have your tintype taken" in this cozy scene.

A crew of cameramen were kept busy snapping photos with polaroid cameras for on the spot reproduction.

The photographers included William Nero, James McGeehon, Robert Graves, William Imbrie, John Griffith, Frank Burkett, Thomas Taylor and Rodney Hall.

They were assisted by their wives and all were in eye-catching costumes of the gay nineties era.

Many couples from this area took part in the fun. Among them were the Edward Mulloys, Stephen Johnsons, George Heims, Ernest Rowlands, William Needhams, Lowell Clarks, Edward Sterlings, Arthur Lamberts, Alden Mackays, Allen Madisons, Richard Martins, King Crosnos and the Charles Williams.

All proceeds from the 21st annual Easter Fair go to the support of the part-pay services provided by the hospital for children whose parents cannot afford the full cost of medical care.

We're Getting Our Money's Worth, at Last!

A bill is pending before the California Legislature which would require that the Contra Costa District Attorney position be a full-time job.

That legislation was prepared at the request of our district attorney, John Nejedly.

This is worthy of comment, because it is one of the campaign promises Nejedly made when he ran for the office. That fact that he is keeping his promises is worthy of commendation and comment.

Furthermore, the fact that he is applying full time to the position is also worthy of comment. It's about time that happened in this county.

BUT NEJEDLY has done even more that he promised, and this affects each of us. He has recently requested promotions for two of his deputies, Charles Hemmings and David Levy. Both, from our experience, are good men and deserve the promotion. Levy will be Acting District Attorney in Nejedly's absence, and Hemmings will be chief deputy in charge of the civil division of the office.

What Nejedly has done in this. He has asked the board of supervisors and the civil service commission to approve the appointments, and to draw up job specifications which will require the jobs to be full time.

He has also asked for a salary increase for the two positions to compensate for the loss of private practice.

This makes sense. Take good men, see that they get good jobs, and pay them for it. Then you have a right to expect your office to run at maximum efficiency.

THIS STREAMLINING of the district attorney's office is long overdue, but from the looks of things it is now well on the way.

We dare say that for the first time in many, many years, the Contra Costa taxpayer is getting his money's worth from the District Attorney's office.

And the beauty of it is, we see no reason why it can't continue!

A New Hospital Means Community Benefit

Walnut Creek will soon have a new hospital.

But Walnut Creek is far from the only beneficiary in this case.

Hospital facilities in Central Contra Costa County have long been inadequate. Certainly they have never even come close to keeping up with the tremendous growth of the area.

Credit must be given to Permanente Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek for the services it has rendered during this time, because without it we would have been virtually without emergency facilities. And it has also provided care for a certain percentage of the residents.

Concord Community Hospital has provided similar services.

BUT MANY, many people have continued to travel to Berkeley and Oakland for their medical care. Now, the situation is changing.

The plans for the hospital, to be located on Ygnacio Valley Road, are feasible and look good. The doctors who designed the project are to be commended for financing the program as they have. It is a good thing that another "district" wasn't established, thereby adding to the tax burden of the community.

Similarly, it appears that the Martinez Community Hospital will move into the Pleasant Hill area.

ALL OF THESE moves can mean only one think for Mr. and Mrs. resident. There will be more and better medical care available. A "medical community" will be formed, as more doctors and technicians move into the area to provide primary and allied functions.

We hope that the Walnut Creek hospital can be built just as soon as possible, and we give it our full support.

Here is a case where we all benefit.

Look! Everything's Green!

"Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it."

Well, with the weather the way it has been recently (and may be today, for all we can tell at this writing,) there's no wonder nobody does anything about it!

Our hills have turned green. Daffodils are bloomin' all over the place, the flowering fruit trees are blossoming like mad, and doggone it, spring is in the air!

EVEN STODGY editorial writers who spend gloomy lives in dark niches thinking up evil things to say about people are touched by the beauty of the countryside in times like these.

In fact, if you haven't had time, you might just take a look out the window yourself. We know the children all have mumps and measles, and the washer won't work and you've got to find those papers that have been lost in the attic for years.

But why not drop it this weekend and take a tour of the country. Head for the back roads behind St. Mary's College in Moraga, or for Mt. Diablo State Park, or take a tour up into Canyon.

Or just go out in the yard, lie in the hammock and breathe in all that fresh stuff called air.

THIS IS A pretty nice place in which to live, and it's worth stopping once in a while just to take a look around.

Undoubtedly, this is one of the most beautiful places in the world.

And if you'll pardon us now, we're going to follow our own advice.

That supine body you see stretched out under the oak tree when you go for your Sunday drive will be this editorial writer.

Enjoy your weekend!

An Embarrassing Tale...

By DICK OSBORN

This is a dirty trick.

But it's too good to pass by, so I'm going to tell a story on one of our editorial staff members.

Let's leave him nameless, as we shall with the community, but let it be known that it happened right here. The danger in this is that next week I'm liable to find one of my more embarrassing moments detailed here for all to see, but then, that's life.

So it seems that a Sun staffer had a meeting to cover . . . that's a reporter's main bill of fare. So this eager lad takes the camera along with him . . . gotta get some pictures of them celebrities, ya know.

MEETING OCCURS, pictures get taken and camera gets stashed on chair by the wall. Capable reporter goes on taking notes like mad, talking it up with people and in general acting like a junior version of something out of "My Big Story."

Unfortunately, reporter gets interested in what he's doing, and after the meeting tags out with big wheels, asking questions all the way. Gets story, in tradition of newspaper business.

Only then, he remembers, by golly, the camera. Turns around to go back into building and finds same locked . . . and dark. Late, too.

Undaunted, reporter starts searching for open window in wall where he left camera. Finds one, but it is not directly above the equipment. A problem. He squeezes into the window (it's one of these affairs that hinges into the room) and finds that he can get head and shoulders into the building.

ENTERPRISING SUN staffer grabs chair and uses it to hook chair on which camera is sitting. Gingerly pulls camera toward him until he can reach it, and with a sigh, hauls himself and camera out of building.

Turns around to find two of The Finest watching silently with amused looks on their stern faces.

Our Sun man blushes (fortunately it's dark) and hastens to explain who he is. Officers appear doubtful, but actually recognizing him, try blackmail.

Threaten to turn our man in to Herb Caen (a columnist for a non-local paper) and take his credentials away. Our man beats a hasty retreat feeling fortunate that he escaped so easily.

One of life's more embarrassing moments.

ORDINARILY WE don't tell tales like that out of school, but thought all of you might be interested in some of the hazards of the news-gathering profession.

Oh yes, the last straw.

The film jammed in the holder and the picture didn't turn out anyway.

Some days you just can't win!

NON-DRIVERS NEED EDUCATION

Nine out of ten pedestrians killed in traffic accidents never had been licensed to drive a car. Because they were non-drivers, most of these victims were unfamiliar with the limitations of cars and the people who operate them. This more than anything else, says the American Automobile Association, probably contributed to their death.

Non-drivers seldom are aware of the distance needed to stop an automobile at various speeds and therefore often fail to judge correctly when crossing the street. The non-driver also is generally unaware of the fact that pedestrians, particularly those in dark clothing, are not easy to see from behind the wheel of a car at night.

Pedestrian studies in five states and the District of Columbia have emphasized the close relationship between pedestrian deaths and lack of familiarity with motor vehicle operation. A Connecticut study, for example, showed that 95 per cent of 1,031 pedestrian fatality victims over 15 years of age had never been licensed to drive.

If you are a non-driver, the AAA urges you to learn the basic facts of motor vehicle operation, especially stopping distances, whether you intend to drive a car or not. It may mean the difference between life and death.

A Very Simple Thing For Mothers to Do . . .

By JOYCE BARNUM

Housewives are to be targets of a new campaign.

The campaign is soon to be launched by doctors who hope to immunize this particularly susceptible group from lockjaw.

HOUSEWIVES cut themselves frequently. Most of the time nothing happens. But there is a chance that from any given cut lockjaw can set in.

Gardening is a hobby of many housewives. The germ which causes lockjaw is to be found in fertilizers which are used in home gardens.

MOST WOMEN protect their children as a matter of course. Knowingly no mother would deliberately take the risk of leaving her youngsters motherless. She does all that she can to protect them.

Yet each day her occupational duties create a prime field for the onset of lockjaw in this group considered by doctors to be the most prone to the disease.

Industrial law now requires a tetanus shot as part of the treatment for even the simplest accident requiring treatment by a physician.

Immunization against lockjaw is only a common sense requirement.

AND IT'S such a simple measure for any housewife to take, not only for her own protection but to insure her continued health to maintain a home for her family.

Odds are that most children have received this shot as a routine part of their course of immunization shots. Few mothers, however, have ever even thought of lockjaw immunization for themselves.

Some fathers and/or husbands may have some remaining immunization from tetanus shots received in the military service.

BUT IT'S not a bad idea, particularly in this suburban area where most of us putter in our gardens, to aid the medical group in its forthcoming campaign by getting ourselves immunized against lockjaw.

Letters to The Editor

OBJECTIVE REPORTING

DEAR EDITOR:

The transit news story written by Bob Rapida for the February 27 issue of The Sun Newspapers exemplified, in my judgement, objective reporting of high order.

The story presented the facts clearly and accurately, and afforded the reader an opportunity to become thoroughly familiar with the true nature of the controversy.

THE MANNER in which the story was handled also indicated considerable insight into the transit problem.

Please convey to Bob Rapida my appreciation for the high type of reporting he exhibited in his thorough coverage.

I might add that we are mindful of the considerable amount of space you have devoted to transit news over the past months.

Though we have not always agreed as to the best course of action regarding the improvement of transit for Central Contra Costa County, I want you to know I appreciate your interest in the matter and your recognition that public transit is becoming a growing need in Central Contra Costa County that eventually must be met.

I AM LOOKING forward to the time when your valued newspapers and the Alameda Contra Costa Transit District can approach a solution to the transit problem in Central Contra Costa County side-by-side in one accord.

I hope this will not be too far in the future.

JOHN WORTHINGTON
General Manager
Alameda-Contra Costa
Transit District

EXCELLENT JOB

DEAR EDITOR:

In the last edition of The Sun dated March 6th there was an article on the front page written by Jack Seymour re the Moraga Fire Department and the inadequacy of the fire protection in the East Contra Costa District.

Mel F. Neilson stated in the article that he would seek to have the Moraga area annexed to the Orinda Fire District.

There are a few discrepancies in this story, also some facts which should be mentioned.

The new Rheem firehouse is not manned by "one volunteer" as stated—there are ten paid trained firemen for the area and twenty-nine experienced volunteer firemen.

At no time is a station manned by volunteer firemen only.

The "dilapidated former barn" was built originally to house fire fighting equipment—though it is certainly not a modern building it has been renovated; there is a modern heating unit, a dormitory, and a well equipped kitchen.

There are two combination pumper trucks (one a 1956 model) and three four wheel drive units with pumps and water tanks used to fight grass or brush fires. Each station has a resuscitator and other first aid equipment.

Since the East Contra Costa District (Moraga) has a great area of undeveloped land where many grass fires occur there is a great need for volunteer firemen. Especially those men who have had experience with these fires—volunteers are certainly less costly to the county.

Any person who has had occasion to be dependent on the Moraga Fire Department can state that any problem was handled efficiently. A list of such people can be obtained at either fire station in Moraga.

It is very clear to those who live in the Moraga Fire District that Chief Al Baitx and his men are doing an excellent job protecting their property and lives.

There is much potential growth in the Moraga area and from past performance there is no reason to doubt that the Moraga Fire Department will grow accordingly.

ANN JORALEMON.

What Happened to the Narcotics Petitions?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

What has happened to the petitions asking for a 30-year minimum sentence for selling narcotics?

Remember—a petition was printed in this column and over 900 names were signed and returned to The Sun. They were forwarded to the Elks Narcotics Committee.

Well, Monday your petitions—plus over a million others—were presented to the Assembly Judiciary Committee in Sacramento. Our assemblyman, Jerome Waldie, a member of this committee, called Sun News Editor Bob Rapida on Tuesday to discuss the situation. Here is a memo from Bob:

By the truck load

Spoke to Jerry Waldie on Elks petitions this morn. Judiciary Committee was presented with truck load (about one million). After the reading of the bill, the author amended it from the original mandatory sentence of 30 years to:

First offense, five year minimum to 20 year maximum; second offense, 10 year minimum to 40 year maximum.

The district attorney's association representative and the Peace officers lobbyist were sent to fight the original 30 year mandatory sentence. But since the author amended his own bill to everyone's suprise, the lobbyists took no action since they did not know the wishes of their organizations.

Jerry said he may go along with a separate proposal which asks for a five-year minimum penalty for a second offense and 30 for third offense. But the original amended proposal also includes a minimum one year penalty for first offense. This he can't go for.

A question of faith?

Jerry told me that a first offense minimum sentence would show that we have no faith or trust in the judiciary of the state.

Jerry mentioned our present narcotic law—the maximum sentence runs to life and a judge, if he feels it necessary, may decree a life sentence on a first offense. Jerry says the maximum penalties are certainly adequate, but the minimum is now the question.

He said he might go along with the five year minimum for second offense, even though it would be inconsistant with his premise of hamstringing the judiciary.

Speaking of the proposal to abolish the death sentence for murder, the matter comes before the judiciary committee this Monday at 8 p.m. I'm planning to attend.

I know that Waldie is firmly opposed to the death sentence and he is interested in hearing what other people have to say about it.

This is the end of the memo.

Something is being done

Regardless of the final provisions of the narcotics bill, it is obvious that the petitions have served a very important purpose. Our legislators realize that we feel strongly about it and will enact legislation. This has been long overdue.

How do you feel about abolishing capital punishment? Does a possible death sentence deter a person from committing murder?

The experts (law enforcement officials) do not agree on this. I lean toward the belief that the death sentence should not be abolished. It is not mandatory now; our judges and jury can determine the sentence.

What do you think?

Girl Scout Anniversary To Feature Creative Arts

adventuresome outdoor and camping projects, the Girl Scouts are currently featuring the arts and creative programs during their 47th birthday observance.

The 1959 Girl Scout theme is "You Can Count on Her to be Creative."

NATIONALLY and internationally, the Girl Scouts have recently sponsored two major art events. The first was an international arts festival in Brevard, N. C. Almost 100 teen-age American Girl Scouts and 35 teen-age Girl Guides from a half-dozen different countries attended the festival.

Although national Girl Scout authorities had selected the girls on the basis of talent and achievement, they were surprised to find so many participants of professional or semi - professional calibre.

A large percentage of these girls had received their training in music, dramatics, and the arts in Girl Scouting.

AT THE present time, the Girl Scouts are producing along with National Broadcasting Company and the Educational Television and Radio Center at Ann Arbor, Mich., a nation-wide television series called "Adventuring in the Hand Arts."

The first of its kind to be initiated by a youth organization, the 10-week series is designed to stimulate more creative arts programs among Girl Scout troops.

IN ADDITION to special arts projects, the Girl Scout organization uses many techniques to bring its art program to thousands of Girl Scout troops. Basically, girls begin to learn about the arts through the personal example of troop leaders and troop consultants.

Dons Gain Tourney Berth After Trouncing Knights

The Foothill division wound up in a three-way tie but when the playoff games came for the Tournament of Champions, the Acalanes Dons picked up the marbles when they defeated the Las Lomas Knights March 5 at the neutral Danville gym wiht a convincing 52-28 win after the Knights had toppled Miramonte earlier in the week.

THE GAME was played before an overflow crowd of 1400. The Dons took the lead 2-0 on Mel Simpson's jump shot early in the first quarter and they were never to be behind. Although the Knights did tie at 5-5, many noted that the game was the Dons' best effort of the season.

The Dons took a 15-9 first quarter lead when Bill Yonge scored six points, Mel Simpson four and Paul Colin, 5.

THE DONS, playing a stout defense forced the Knights to shoot from outside and that gave them board control which coupled with screen plays and a driving offense put them ahead 24-13 at the half.

Acalanes really fired at the hoop in the third quarter, collecting 17 points, with guard George McMeans getting 10 of them mostly on shots from 20 feet out. Las Lomas bagged 11 points to trail 41-24.

St. Mary's Quint Starts Tonight in NCA Tourney

With their West Coast Athletic Championship crown, perched proudly, but gingerly, on their head, the Galloping Gaels from Saint Mary's College, charge into the Cow Palace this weekend for a try at the NCAA Regional Championship.

Coach Jim Weaver's men are eager for the school's first crack at representing the West Coast the following week in Louisville, Kentucky where the National Championship will be up for grabs.

As The Sun goes to press it has not yet been determined who they will play in the opening game tonight. Arizona State, New Mexico and Idaho State are playing one another this week—winner to face the Gaels.

California and Utah will meet in the second game tonight. Should the Gaels top their still unnamed opponent, they would play either the Utes or the Bears for the championship Saturday.

Early in the season Saint Mary's lost a thrilling, close contest to California, 55-57. On a mid-west junket, Weaver's Warriors stopped off at Salt Lake City to beat Utah, 75-73 in another close contest, but minus the services of All-American Honorable Mention Tom Meschery.

While the Gaels are far from favorites in the NCAA regionals, they stand an outside chance of upsetting the well laid plans of their traditional rival, California. Pete Newell's charges are considered the team to beat.

And what does Weaver say about this? "Let's play 'em one at a time and trust that we'll have the pleasure of meeting either of these two great teams (Utah and California) for the regional crown."

Starting lineup for Saint Mary's: Meschery (6.6) at center; LaRoy Doss (6.5) and Joe Barry (6.3) at forwards; Bob Dold (5.11) and Dick Sigaty (6.5) at guards. Besides, Meschery, Doss, Sigaty and Barry have received All-American Honorable Mention on one or another of the various All-American teams announced throughout the country.

Master Plan For Parks Is Advocated

Speed-up in plans for a county park system to meet growing population needs will be sought by the Contra Costa County Park and Recreation Council in a three-point program for 1959, said William Drake, president.

A complete master plan for parks, employment of a park director, and increased powers for the County Park Commission are the goals outlined in a letter inviting county organizations to join the park development movement.

A master plan enables orderly acquisition and financing of park lands, and a professional park director can save the county thousands of dollars in evolving the plan, the letter said.

THE COUNCIL seeks powers for the Park Commission over their present advisory capacity to oversee the operation of a park system.

Park and Recreation Council representatives and a member of the County Park Commission met with the County Planning Commission on March 3 to discuss the plan for parks.

Presentation of the physical plan before the entire Park Commission was scheduled for May 22. The financial project will not be determined for a year, Planning Commission authorities announced.

It was also announced that California's 25th Annual Conservation Week is being observed this week.

WILLIAM DRAKE of Canyon, president of the Contra Costa Park and Recreation Council, said "Natural beauty is one of our greatest resources.

"It has drawn thousands of residents to our county. Unless we preserve it through an active program of parks, roadside protection and wise planning, we will lose the appeal that attracts people here.

"It is like killing the goose that lays the golden egg."

Drake also referred to the program for outdoor study in Orinda and Lafayette schools, terming it in conservation education in the "the most significant experiment Bay Area."

ELEMENTARY school children are taught natural processes and how to protect them through regular use of small unspoiled areas on or near their school grounds.

Glorietta School at Orinda pioneered in the program, which according to retired principal Margaret Anderson is "to awaken an awareness of the beauty and wonders of the natural environment, encourage its appreciation and exploration and guide the future citizen toward its wholesome and unselfish use."

CAMELLIAS, Camellias, Camellias! They are wonderful, the objects of artistic wonderment, say sponsors of the Camellia Show, to be held tomorrow and Sunday at 1800 Carmel Drive, Walnut Creek. This is one of the biggest events in the central county each year. Left to right are flower-admirers Richard Betzenderfer, Chamber of Commerce president; Mrs. Bell and Mr. Patterson, in the McDonnell Nursery, Walnut Creek. —Sun photo by Rolf deTrentini

Thousands of Camellias Expected in Annual Show

One of the bay region's liveliest groups of specialty growers, the Northern California Camellia Society, will have its annual two-day show in Walnut Creek tomorrow from 2 to 10 p.m. and Sunday March 15 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The state-wide event is being held in larger quarters at the Armory building at 1800 Carmel Drive.

Nearly 500 varieties will be seen at close range. They are used singly, in various groups and in arrangements as well as specimen plants and garden settings.

As in past shows, Contra Costa growers are expected to gather most of the awards including 10 lovely cups, hundreds of ribbons and special certificates from the American Camellia Society.

Show chairman Arthur Patterson of Concord has put in countless hours getting everything in readiness for the spectacular show. Other Contra Costans staging the show include President Walter Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Paige, Dave Feathers, Donald Tunnicliff, Howard Burnette, Edward Wist, Roy Tess, L. P. Brooks, Ralph Olberg, Haig Ashuckian and Robert Graves, supervising landscape architect.

Everyone is invited to bring blooms. Even a single bloom will be welcome from a grower if brought before 10 a.m. Saturday. Many top awards in past shows were won by non-society members.

The unusual highlight of the "World of Camellias" show will be a mammoth seven foot world globe with every country filled in with various color camellias. Members will be picking blooms for hours to fill the globe. It is expected to require over 22,000 in 20 colors.

Not to be out-done is the beautiful flower arrangement section with entries from nearly a hundred artists of the flower world, amateurs and professionals who will display their work in the various twenty-three classes.

Cancer Study Is Progressing

After reviewing 492 reports from scientists working on its research grants, the American Cancer Society disclosed today to the Contra Costa County branch that although no single great breakthrough against the disease was achieved, during the past year hundreds of small ones took place.

Dr. Frederick A. Pellegrin, president of the county branch, said current trends indicate that the cancer problem may be solved piecemeal, in some cases by prevention and in others by surgery, early detection, or treatment with drugs.

"Contra Costa County residents contributed 40 per cent of the more than $52,000 totalled in the last Cancer Crusade to these hundreds of research projects being conducted in universities throughout the United States," Dr. Pellegrin said.

Kaiser Brothers On Spring Vacation

Henry M. Kaiser and Kim J. Kaiser, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Kaiser of 3100 Andreasen Drive, have left Eaglebrook School, Deerfield, Mass., for spring vacation.

During term end exercises Henry was awarded his Eaglebrook letter as a member of the ski team.

Area Youths To Participate In Concert

Several area boys and girls will take part in Berkeley's annual Lenten concert, to be held Sunday at the Berkeley High School Community Theater.

They are as follows:

Orinda—Allen Breed, clarinet; Leslie Compton, flute; Julie Newman, bass viol, and Janice Twining, cello.

Pleasant Hill—Sandra Johnson, violin; Robert Johnson, cello, and Dennis Mann, cello.

Walnut Creek—Mary Jo Chrisman, violin; Roger Emanuels, cello; Roger Hendrix, clarinet; Gordon Owens, violin; Jim Webster, trumpet; Sue Weidner, violin, and Nancy Powers, violin.

Lafayette — James Josephs, violin.

Your Garden

By THE GARDENER

CAN YOU use a vine? The California Association of Nurserymen will bet that eight out of ten gardeners can—to cover a blank wall, soften a harsh line on a fence, or to provide overhead shade in hot weather.

But once the point is made and the gardener admits his need, what vine is best? Does he want an evergreen? A vine that supports itself? One that requires guidance? One for shade or sun or what?

These may seem simple points but the success of your vine depends on proper selection. You can't make a twining vine cling to a concrete or brick wall; nor can you make a Clematis thrive against a hot south wall.

WITH THAT in mind, let's look at situations. You have a concrete or brick wall you want to cover. Choose one of the clinging vines that attach themselves one way or another to the surface. Boston Ivy or the common Ivies are suitable. So are Creeping Fig and Virginia Creeper.

You want to cover a trellis or pergola for summer shade. Choose a Wisteria or Grape for the job if you want to let in sun during winter. Or if an evergreen is desired, try Bougainvillea or Honeysuckle. Silver Lace vine is an excellent choice, but you don't always know from year to year whether it will be really deciduous or almost evergreen in mild winter areas. Small matter to those who know it and grow it.

For softening the line of a fence or the overhang of a roof, the graceful and evergreen Armandi Clematis is unsurpassed. It needs to be guided with string or cord. And for lattice work—to cover a blank wall—try Giant Burmese Honeysuckle or maybe the striking Blood Red Trumpet Vine.

THERE ARE actually many good vines for similar situations and choice is often difficult. But with this in mind, there is no excuse at all for choosing the wrong vine for the need you want it to fill.

Insurance Men Will Attend Career Meeting

John Bartolero, 3212 Camino Colorados, Lafayette, and Henry Hansen, 1819 Ardith Drive, Pleasant Hill, will attend a career conference of the New York Life Insurance Company in San Francisco, March 19-21.

Bartolero and Hansen will join other agents and company executives for educational work in life underwriting, accident and sickness and employee protection insurance.

Camellia Talk To be Feature

District 4A, California Garden Clubs, Inc., will meet on St. Patrick's Day, Tuesday, March 17, at the Orinda Country Club.

The Orinda Garden Club will be hostess club.

The business meeting is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. with Mrs. Noel Gaubert, district director, presiding. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. and will be followed by a program on "Camellias" by Jack Schneider from the Orchard Nursery of Lafayette.

All garden club members are welcome. Please make reservations by today with Mrs. J. H. Schworck, 35 Via Hermosa, or Mrs. E. J. Unruh, 50 Via Hermosa.

Square Shooters Hold Workshops

The Lafayette Square Shooters will have a weekly workshop dance meeting at Stanley School every Wednesday at 8 p.m.

All intermediate square dancers are invited to attend. Dave Byers is the club caller.

Set Out Glads, Plant Bareroot Trees This Week

Here are things to do in your garden this week:

1. Keep setting out gladiolus. Successive plantings at two or three-week intervals will result in a succession of bloom.

2. Check nurseries for that azalea in bloom. You'll find a good selection in March.

3. To loosen packed or clay soil, use a commercial conditioner, but don't work it in if the soil is soggy or wet. Take a break and wait until it dries out some.

4. If you failed to plant ranunculus tubers, you may still find some in nurseries. A better bet now would be seedling plants in nursery flats.

5. Many shade trees are still available in bareroot form and should be planted this week. Bareroot season will be only a memory shortly.

AZALEAS ARE SO MUCH BETTER HUMORED WITH HUMUS!

Sunshine Peat Moss by itself is ideal for acid-loving Azaleas, Camellias, or Gardenias, because it provides lots of humus, fast drainage, plenty of water. Sunshine supplies these three needs better than any other material. Reason: it's Sphagnum Peat Moss—holds the most water, has the highest, long-lasting organic content — humus — of all!

Pageant of Arts Promises To Be 'Better Than Ever'

The Pageant of Arts committee is busy on what promises to be one of the most important shows in the West.

Not only will the pageant program encompass the graphic arts, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry, weaving, photography, mosaics, music, dancing, drama, but literature will be given a prominent place.

Mrs. Mildred Carlock, Danville, of the Contra Costa Library Department, tells us that invitations are being sent to published authors in the area—of which there are many—to attend the pageant where they and their work will be presented to the public.

"Most everyone has planned to write the 'Great American Novel'," Mrs. Carlock remarked, "and may even have yellowing pages of an ambitious start tucked away in a bottom drawer, but here we may see and meet some of our neighbors who have gotten beyond the 'page 1—chapter 1' stage."

Mrs. Carlock says that there will be rare samples of early printing, a page from the Book of Kels will be among the treats in store.

The annual Pageant of Arts will be held May 28 to 31 in the Walnut Creek Park and Recreation Center.

Children's Play To Be Presented This Saturday

"The Magic Riddle," third play for the current East Bay Children's Theatre season will be presented at Stanley School Auditorium, Lafayette, Saturday. Curtain time is 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

This production features a cast from the theatrical school of "The Company of the Golden Hind" of Berkeley and is directed by Rachmael ben Avram. Sets and costumes are the designs of Susanna Hart.

"The Magic Riddle" is an original script which concerns a child who is stolen by "Master Lives," a servant of evil. He can only escape by solving the magic riddle before his 16th birthday.

No group reservations can be made for this production but a limited number of single admissions will be available at the box office.

After a short business meeting Smith will speak to the group on grinding and testing telescope mirrors.

He will demonstrate the Foucault knife edge and null test for mirrors. The public is invited.

College Offers Free Movie, 'Smoky Skyland'

Dr. G. Harrison Orians, University of Toledo professor and noted wild life photographer, will present his Audubon Screen Tour "Great Smoky Skyland" at Diablo Valley College tonight at 8 in the gymnasium.

The color motion film story of western North Carolina and the southern Appalachian highlands will be open to the public free of charge as part of the college program of conservation of natural resources.

The flowers, shrubs and trees and the bird life of the Great Smokies will be shown with reminders of a rustic and primitive civilization including suspension bridges, slab board and log houses, grist mills run by water, hand-operated wells, gourd utensils and folk weaving.

Dr. Orians is a former Yosemite National Park ranger naturalist.

He was a professor at the University of Illinois and University of Idaho before going to University of Toledo as professor of English and director of summer sessions. In World War II he taught pre-flight courses for the Army Air Corps.

WHEEL BOLTS

Front and rear wheel bolts on the 1959 Buick cars are not interchangeable. The front wheel bolts are longer and if accidentally used on a rear wheel will press against the parking brake. If rear wheel bolts are used on a front wheel they will not thread deeply enough to attach the wheel safely. Front wheel bolts are 1¾ inches long, rear wheel bolts are 1½ inches. Pay particular attention to this when rotating tires.

Improvement Study Given to Supervisors

J. P. McBrien, county administrator, has submitted to the Board of Supervisors the second section of the report on the county's capital improvement program, specifying the need for county institutional buildings and other improvement needs.

This report supplements Part I, presented to the Board of Supervisors in November, 1957; the earlier report outlined the need for county office buildings.

WITH THESE two reports and the recent Tudor survey report on county highway requirements, a complete inventory of county capital improvement needs has been prepared.

This report analyzes improvement requirements of the County Hospital, Richmond Health Center, Boys' Rehabilitation Camp, Shelter Care Home, County Jail, Corporation Yard, Car Pool Garage, County Airport, Animal Control Center, and facilities for Building Maintenance, Agricultural Commissioner, and Sealer of Weights and Measures Departments.

Other improvement items identified in the report, which may command the expenditure of county capital outlay funds, are off-street parking, roadside development, county memorial halls, county parks, small craft harbors and launching ramps, and refuse disposal sites.

THE REPORT estimates that the County Hospital may need as many as 750 beds by 1970, that the Boys' Rehabilitation Camp should accommodate 60 boys, and that new maximum and minimum security jail facilities should be built at the County Rehabilitation Center at Clayton.

It is also suggested that neglected children be removed from the Juvenile Hall so the building can be used to house delinquent children only.

A new airport administration building, control tower, hangars and paved areas are projected for Buchanan Field, while a new county corporation yard is contemplated adjacent to the County Juvenile Hall.

McBrien reported that institutional buildings and related improvement needs alone will probably require the expenditure of about $5,000,000 during the next six years. Additional expenditures of approximately $2,500,000 are needed during the same period on additional county office buildings.

McBrien also reported that an additional report is being prepared which will contain specific recommendations on financing capital improvements and projecting estimated expenditures against projected county growth.
